

Field Leadership Class

Leadership can mean many things: building a better environment; giving people the tools to succeed; creating an open, authentic and positive influence; building consensus and common goals; helping others to achieve the impossible; building the next generation of leaders; actively listening; and knowing your team and yourself well.

This 3-day class will cover all of these and much more in the development of your field leaders. This class was designed for the Oil & Gas Industry but the tools can be used by supervisors, managers, foreman and superintendents in any field.

August 22-24, 2017; 8 am - 4:30 pm

Cost: No charge - All costs are covered by a Susan Harwood Grant*
