Regardless of the industry, high-reliability hazard control requires more than regulatory compliance. For every hazard, there must be a hazard control. Some of these hazard controls are mandated by federal law or National Consensus Standards. With these regulations as minimal requirements, the hierarchy of controls provides a methodology for best practices in finding the most effective hazard controls. However, even with these controls in place, a third tier exists in which employees must be trained and conditioned to identify what these controls are but also when, where and how to use them - in real time. This situational awareness can often be the difference between incidents or a safe work practice, so conditioning to identify hazards in real time, locate and use the proper control is imperative. This conditioning can be accomplished using a 'playbook' approach based on the most effective hazard controls. However, this conditioning is useless without the appropriate regulations, hazard controls and training already in place. Ultimately, these three levels of hazard controls are necessary to create a high-reliability safety culture.

MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Welcome to the COM Lifelong Learning Fifty Plus Program. During the spring 2018 semester we are offering 93 courses and numerous trips and lectures from which you can choose. We have morning, afternoon, and evening classes, covering topics such as the fine arts like acrylic, watercolor, and oil painting. We offer woodworking, photography, sewing, quilting, embroidery, and knitting. There are courses in cake decorating, greeting cards, beading, painting on silk, collage, mosaics, origami, fused and stained glass. Our seniors learn Spanish, and computer and iPad/iPhone skills. There are exercise programs ranging from dance to yoga, pilates, and tai chi, all designed for students who are fifty years of age and over. Since moving into our new facility in the Gulfway Plaza, we have increased enrollment and the number of courses that we offer.

Another way to stay active and enjoy learning experiences is to take day trips. A few examples are bird watching, the Lonestar Flight Museum, the bluebonnet festival in Chappell Hill, the River Oaks Azalea Trail, and the Bryan Museum in Galveston. Evening excursions include bus trips to Broadway Across America's "The Color Purple" and "School of Rock" and TUTS performances of "Memphis Musical". There are lectures on the basics of investment, osteoarthritis, AARP driver safety, identity theft, and Alzheimer's caregivers.

Students on this trip in the spring will visit a Tuscan winery, San Gimignano, the Statue of David, Lucca, Assisi, St. Peter's, and the Leaning Tower of Pisa. In May, COM will travel to Washington DC, Annapolis, and Williamsburg. The travelers will see Arlington National Cemetery, the WWII monument, Smithsonian, White House, Mt. Vernon, Jamestown, Yorktown, and Richmond. In the summer, COM Fifty Plus students and spouses or friends will travel to the Black Hills, the Badlands, and Mt. Rushmore. They will participate in a Jeep safari to see buffalo, visit the Devil's Tower, Crazy Horse Memorial, Fort Hays, Deadwood, and the Black Hills Gold Factory. All trips include roundtrip airfare, most meals, a professional tour director, sightseeing, motorcoach transportation, hotel transfers, and baggage handling. TRIP: TUTS "MEMPHIS MUSICAL"

"Memphis Musical" is set in the places where rock and roll was born in the 1950s: the seedy nightclubs, radio stations and recording studios of the musically-rich Tennessee city. With an original score, it tells the fictional story of DJ Huey Calhoun, a good ole' local boy with a passion for R&B music and Felicia Farrell, an up-and-coming black singer that he meets one fateful night on Beale Street. Despite the objections of their loved ones, Huey's close-minded mama and Felicia's cautious brother, they embark on a dangerous affair. As their careers rise, the relationship is challenged by personal ambition and the pressures of an outside world unable to accept their love. Memphis is a musical by David Bryan (music and lyrics) and Joe DiPietro (lyrics and book). It is loosely based on Memphis disc jockey Dewey Phillips, one of the first white DJs to play black music in the 1950s. A Dutch treat dinner will precede the show. Cost includes transportation and admission ticket. This trip is open to anyone age 50 or older. Tickets have been pre-purchased for this event. No refunds will be given for this trip.

SPACE-AVAILABLE CLASSES

Space-available classes are workforce credit classes that accept continuing education students. Continuing education students are not required to take a college placement test or apply to the college. These classes are available to a limited number of continuing education students who must complete all course objectives, take exams and meet attendance requirements. Students will receive a grade of pass or fail; however, no college credit hours are earned.

Space-available classes start and end with the spring credit class schedule – spring (Jan. 16 – May 11). Full course descriptions are available in the College catalog and more information about these courses is in the credit schedule. Both documents are online at www.com.edu/admissions/schedule-catalog.php.

The following space-available classes are $270 for in-district students or $275 for out-of-district students. There is an additional $25 fee for each hybrid course and a $35 fee for each online course. Hybrid and internet classes require completion of the Online Learner Workshop (OLW) prior to first class date.

INSTRUCTOR'S EXPERIENCE IMPACTS STUDENT'S SUCCESS IN CLASSROOM

There's something to be said for experience.

COM's industrial education instructors bring a wealth of experience and knowledge to the college's Continuing Education Industrial Workforce programs. "It's important that we hire those that bring life experiences to the classroom to give students a real glimpse into that craft," said Director of CE Industrial Workforce Laura Baumgartner.

Dave Wall has 40 years in the oil and gas industry rebuilding pumps, engines and valves and training.

"My years of working on equipment as well as training large groups nationally and internationally has given me extreme confidence in my ability to communicate to all levels of mechanical knowledge. This experience has translated into the classrooms" said Dave Wall, adjunct instructor for the mechanical maintenance technician program.

Tim Clark has 37 years as a craftsman as well as a supervisor. He started out as a welder and then performed both certified pipe welding and pipefitting and fabrication work.

"The responsibility as instructor is to train and guide the students. If the students' attitude is right for success, their goals are set high enough to challenge their ability, and their commitment is solid, they will be great at this endeavor as a tradesperson," said Tim Clark, pipefitting adjunct instructor.

Common responses from students on the end-of-course surveys are "instructor was very knowledgeable and had experience in the subject" and "the teacher was able to relate what we were learning with what we will see in the field." It's comments like these that tell us that COM has great instructors.

So ask yourself, "Do I have years of experience in a craft or trade? Would I like to share my knowledge and passion for the trade?" If yes, apply today at www.com.edu/hr and join COM in training the next generation of craft workers!
